

Wetland Recovery Project's Public Records Retention Policy

Each agency participating in the Wetland Recovery Project (WRP) retains and manages its own WRP-related records consistent with its individual records retention policies. Requests for WRP-related records should be directed to the agency(ies) whose WRP-related records are sought. The State Coastal Conservancy retains and manages its WRP-related records consistent with State Records Management Act (Government Code sections 12270-12279) and its State Coastal Conservancy Policy and Procedures on Record Retention ("Conservancy Records Retention Policy"). Pursuant to an agreement with the Conservancy, Earth Island Institute also retains and manages its WRP-related records in accordance with the Conservancy's Records Retention Policy and such records will be made available to the public in accordance with the California Public Records Act. Requests for WRP-related records of the Conservancy and/or Earth Island Institute should be directed to the State Coastal Conservancy."